WHERE SEA MEETS SILENCE

It drifts, softens, and dissolves.

Volo Mare — Seascapes in Motion is an invitation into a world where horizon, light, and water become one continuous presence.

This collection of six paintings by French artist Charlotte Bressollette explores the sea not as a place, but as a state of being—soft, atmospheric, and suspended between stillness and motion.

From the clarity of day to the quiet depth of night, the series traces a subtle emotional journey. Light fades, returns, and transforms, while the horizon remains—an anchor within a shifting world.

Through layered, near-monochromatic oils, Bressollette creates immersive surfaces that draw the viewer inward.

Her work exists in the “in-between”:
a space of calm, reflection, and quiet infinity.

*Volo Mare is not simply seen—it is felt.
A moment suspended.
A return to the essential rhythm of the sea.*

Charlotte Bressollette

Born in Angers, France, in 1982, Charlotte Bressollette lives and works in Paris.

Her artistic journey spans psychology, performance, and visual art, shaping a practice rooted in perception and emotion. Working across oil, pigment, and experimental processes—including revived photosensitive materials—she creates atmospheric works that balance abstraction and presence.

Her art explores memory, fragility, and the tension between light and shadow.

Rather than depicting landscapes, she evokes inner states—quiet, introspective, and suspended in time.

Exhibited in Paris and internationally, Bressollette is part of a contemporary movement redefining materiality and perception.

A moment suspended in clarity,
where sea and sky meet without resistance.

Light rests gently on the horizon,
capturing the quiet fullness of presence.

Soft and warm sunset.

The light fades slowly,
carrying with it a sense of longing.

A delicate transition between warmth and silence,
where memory begins to surface.

At nightfall, the dust settles.

Darkness arrives gently,
softening the edges of the world.
The sea becomes deeper, quieter—
a space where everything comes to rest.

*A new sunrise,
a new promise.*

Light returns with subtle strength,
opening the horizon once more.

A quiet renewal,
filled with possibility.

Peaceful sunset, where souls can join.

The sea becomes a place of union,
where stillness connects rather than separates.

A shared horizon,
soft and infinite.

ONBOARD EXPERIENCE

Deployed throughout M/Y Volo Mare, each work is experienced in motion.

Natural light, shifting horizons, and the rhythm of the sea continuously transform their presence.

These paintings are not static objects—they are part of the journey.

WM

New horizons aren't just painted—they're pursued.

---

Seascapes is more than a collection—
it is a living expression of direction, desire, and discovery.

Each horizon we chase,
each detail we refine,
brings us closer to what's next.

This is not the end of a journey—
it is the beginning of yours.
